Volume 47

Whether my pupil be destined for the Army, the Church, or the bar, concerns me but little. Regardless of the vocation of his parents, nature summons him to the duties of human life. To live is the trade I wish to teach him. On leaving my hands, he will not, I grant, be a magistrate, a soldier, or a Priest. First of all he will be a man; and all that a man ought to be, he can be when the occasion requires it, just as well as anyone else can; and fortune will make him change his place in vain, for he will always be in his own.

Jean Jacques Rousseau

TOGETHER

I think Unity is Trust, Faith and Pride in everyone that has to do with our system. Letting no one say "me" and never accepting the word "I". Every person has a responsibility and the responsibility is to one another.

Kevin Weatherby

Yes, we are as One; One that learns, earns, shares, and cares about everyone and everything.

Donna Moore

Togetherness is like a Sunrise. It's so close yet so far. If we all stand together, hand in hand, we will reach our Sunrise, and a new day will have dawned.

Jody Cusson

Unity is what brings each of us together in sharing and supporting Washington High School.

Patrice Graves

Unity is the gathering of minds focused on a common goal.

Denise Kelly

Togetherness is what the students at George Washington High School need more than anything else. When we accomplish this, we will be able to move all obstacles that are in our path to success.

Armond White

WE ARE ONE

"Let's put it all together" is an often repeated phrase. Here in the home of the Continentals, there is much evidence to prove that we have "put it all together."

Our 1974 football team put it all together and won the State Championship. Our band demonstrated togetherness as they marched on the campus of Indiana State, in the Veterans' Day Parade, at the football games including being televised at the state championship football game and in the "500" Parade. But evidence of togetherness also abounds in our halls, in our lunchroom and in our classrooms. Yes, Continentals like and respect each other. "We pull together" is more than a catch phrase. It is a vital part of the WASHINGTON WAY. And, the WASHINGTON WAY is the GOLDEN RULE in action.

The Study of Government

The students at Girls State and Boys State spend a week living in and governing a mock city and state. They study the functions and duties of City and State Governments and participate in a mock campaign and election.

The contributing factors for selection of students are based on grades, teacher nominations, and final approval from the Director of Guidance and the Principal.

Trice Outstanding Frenchman

Senior Joe Trice spent his summer in France as part of the Honors Abroad Program sponsored by Indiana University. This was the 13th year of the program and Washington High School has had a winner every year except one.

After a New York to Paris flight, the 30 students took a bus to St. Breiuc, France. Each student lived with a French family for five weeks and became like a member of the family. "My family really treated me well and made me feel at home." The only catch to the program was a "No English" rule. "It was only a problem in the beginning," Joe commented, "and after a while I didn't even think about it."

The last four weeks were spent living in dormitories and attending classes at the school each morning with emphasis on speaking constant French. The group took trips and excursions and spent the last four days in Paris before heading home.

Giant Falls

Homecoming 1974 saw the Ben Davis Giants fall into the hands of the Mighty Continentals 45 - 6. It was a crushing blow to the Giants due to an all-out team effort.

The Student Council displayed their No. 1 rating by sponsoring a half-time show second to none with fireworks, a Queen crowning and a Victory Bonfire.

The Spirit of '66 made an appearance to encourage the Continentals toward a 10 - 0 season and a berth in the Championship Games.

Clubs Spur Student Involvement

Individuality is a vital part of the learning process. Clubs are one way an individual may express his ideas or skills.

Many students find this expression possible through participation in Student Council. Their biggest project each year is Homecoming.

Other students find their opportunity for self-involvement available through the Exercise in Knowledge team. This program gives students the chance to compete with other students throughout the State of Indiana for general knowledge.

For the student who is challenged by education, and achieves a high academic standing, National Honor Society may become one of his goals.

Researchers at Work

Excitement always runs high when photographs arrive from the Photographers. Identifying individual personalities is the most important task performed by the POST staff.

News items are researched and reported on by members of the SURVEYOR staff in the production of the bi-weekly newspaper.

Working in groups or individually, Research Club Members learn to develop various topics and ideas.

The SURVEYOR, POST and the Research Club give students the opportunity to achieve individual recognition.

Music Department Brings Fun In Song

Bringing its message in song, the music department brightens up school sprits during holidays and special events. A variety of groups compose the music department which give students the opportunity to perform in community schools, in nursing homes, for various clubs as well as at Washington High School for special events.

Perhaps the highlight for the music department at GWHS this year involved the Marching Band, who proudly sported new uniforms during football semifinals.

Football Team Overpowers Opponents

Both Offensively and Defensively the Continental team overpowered their opponents during the season. The opposition scored only 84 points to the Continentals 439.

As a first year football player, Senior Neal Abney had to learn to be a kicker as well as a part of the total team effort.

WINGMEN WORK HARD

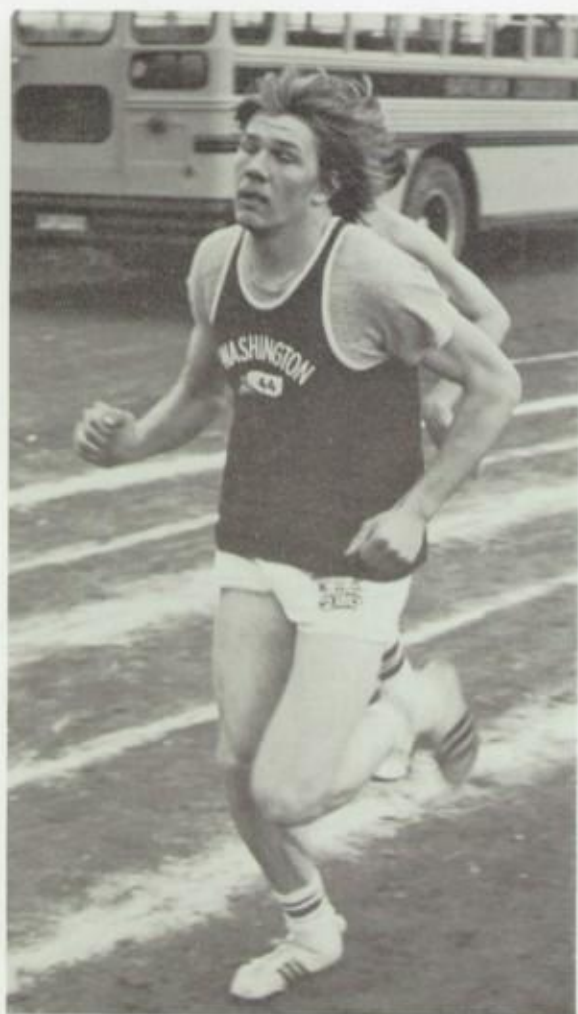

Individual progress was the key to much of the success of the track team. Senior Anthony Hampton broke the 440 school record with a time of 49.9.

Freshmen Lucky Liscomb and David Cox proved their ability in the pole vault through varsity competition. Keith Ward competed in the 100 yard dash while Chester Thomas ran the 220.

Competitors were not confined to the County area as the "Cinder-men" traveled to Munster, Bloomington, and Columbus North.

GIRLS SEEK STATE TITLE

For the past two years the Washington girls track team has won two successive city titles and last year won Sectional and Regional titles before finishing second in the state finals. County Schools as well as city rivals provided the opposition for the girls during the regular season.

In the state meet, Debbie Quarles won 1st place in the 80 yard low hurdles and finished second in the 100 yard dash.

Donna Pope was second in the long jump. Our "ladies of the track" also sparkled in other events such as the Scarborough Peace Games, the Junior Olympics and the Carmel Classics.

WE ACHIEVE

NCA TEAM IMPRESSED WITH ACHIEVEMENTS

Accolades were given GWHS students after the North Central Evaluation Team spent four days observing and talking with students and staff.

NCA concerns itself with educational needs of students and are interested in whether the educational process is functioning within a school.

Dr. Theodore Kowalski, (center) NCA Team Chairman, had many questions for Mr. Julian and Mr. Hunt at the Kick-off dinner on March 11, 1975.

RECOGNITION GIVEN ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT

Left: Top Female and Male students Linda Grays and Lee Kutz enjoy getting a preview of their diploma prior to graduating.

ART EXCELLENCE

Marvetta Wilson received First Place for her pencil drawing plus the Grand Award in the 500 Festival of Arts. This award is judged on the basis of grade level, creativity, design, detail, and excellence.

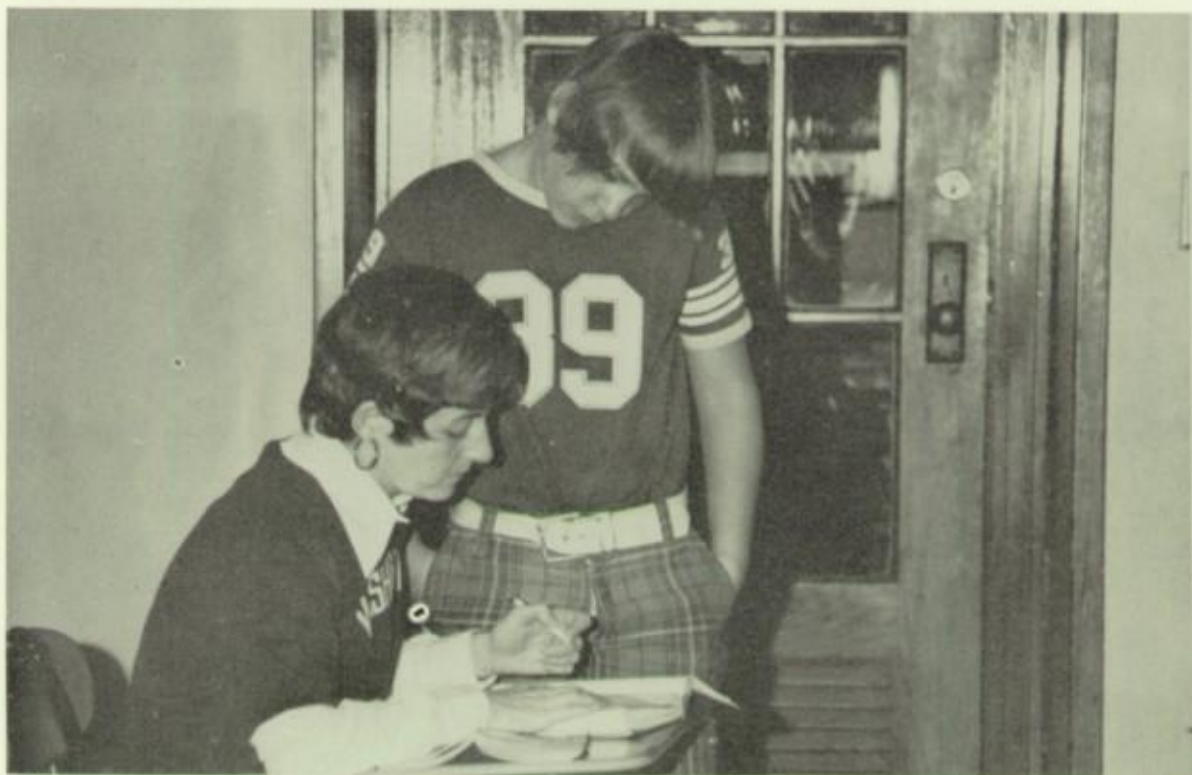

Left: English students winning state essay contest honors were: Mary Hogue, 3rd place; Brookie Herron, Honorable mention; and Alicia Statzer, Honorable mention. The essay theme was entitled "The Moral Basis of Human Progress." All three state winners were from Mr. Woodard's English VI class.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS ACTIVE

In Math, Foreign Language, and English, three Exchange students Juan Sobral and Gustavo Carrbera from Monteuideo, Uruguay, and Barbara Graupner from Bonn, Germany, took an active part in editing language newspapers, exchanging ideas about customs, and helping introduce the metric system.

Two GWHS language students, Denise Walker and Tom Pitman, were winners in the IU Honors Abroad program and as a result will spend the summer of '75 in France.

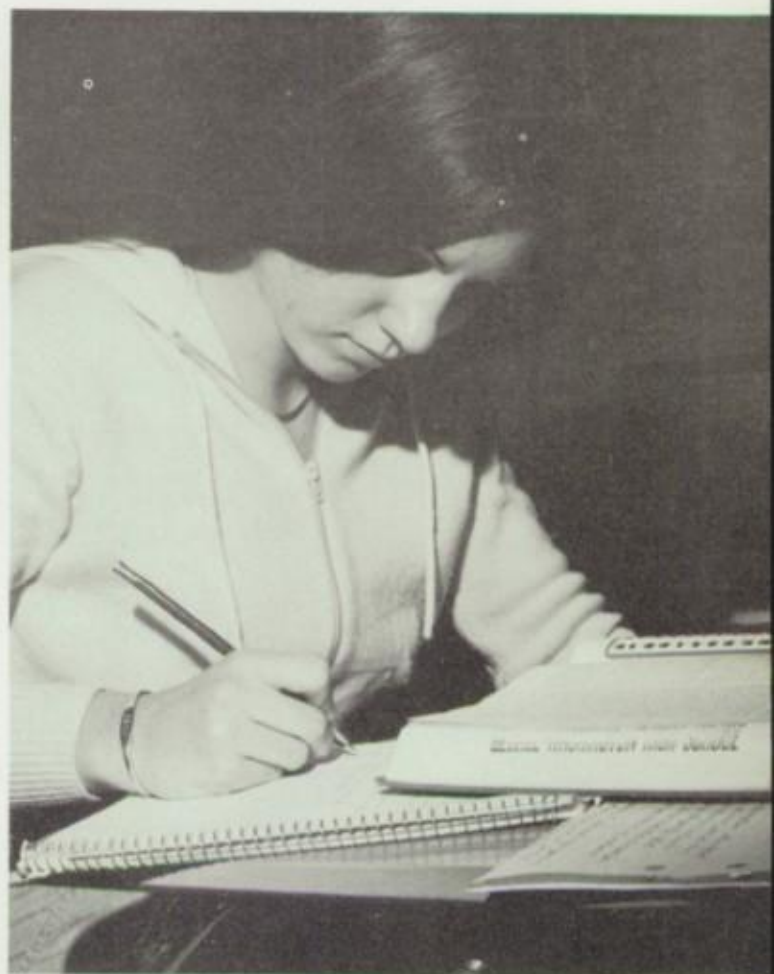

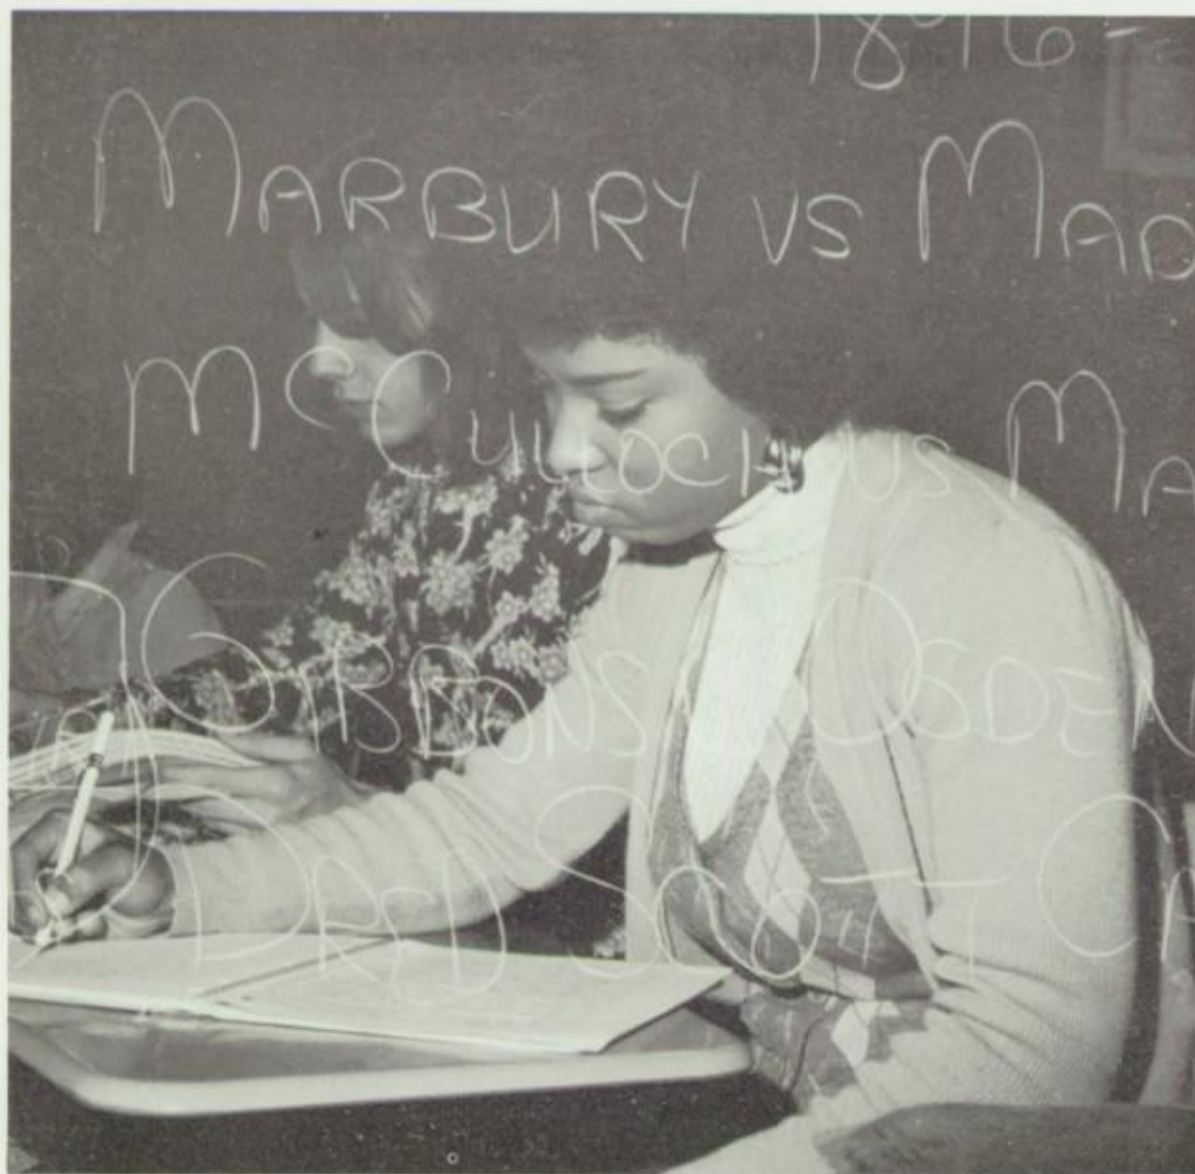

Senior Shirley Zigler maps out her strategy for government class.

GOVERNMENT RELATIVE TO SENIORS

Income Taxes, Refunds, Legislative In Action, and registering to vote are all relative topics to graduating seniors and each one looks forward to voting for the first time or that tax refund from their job. Government classes cover these areas and more making the senior year a meaningful one and one of putting it together.

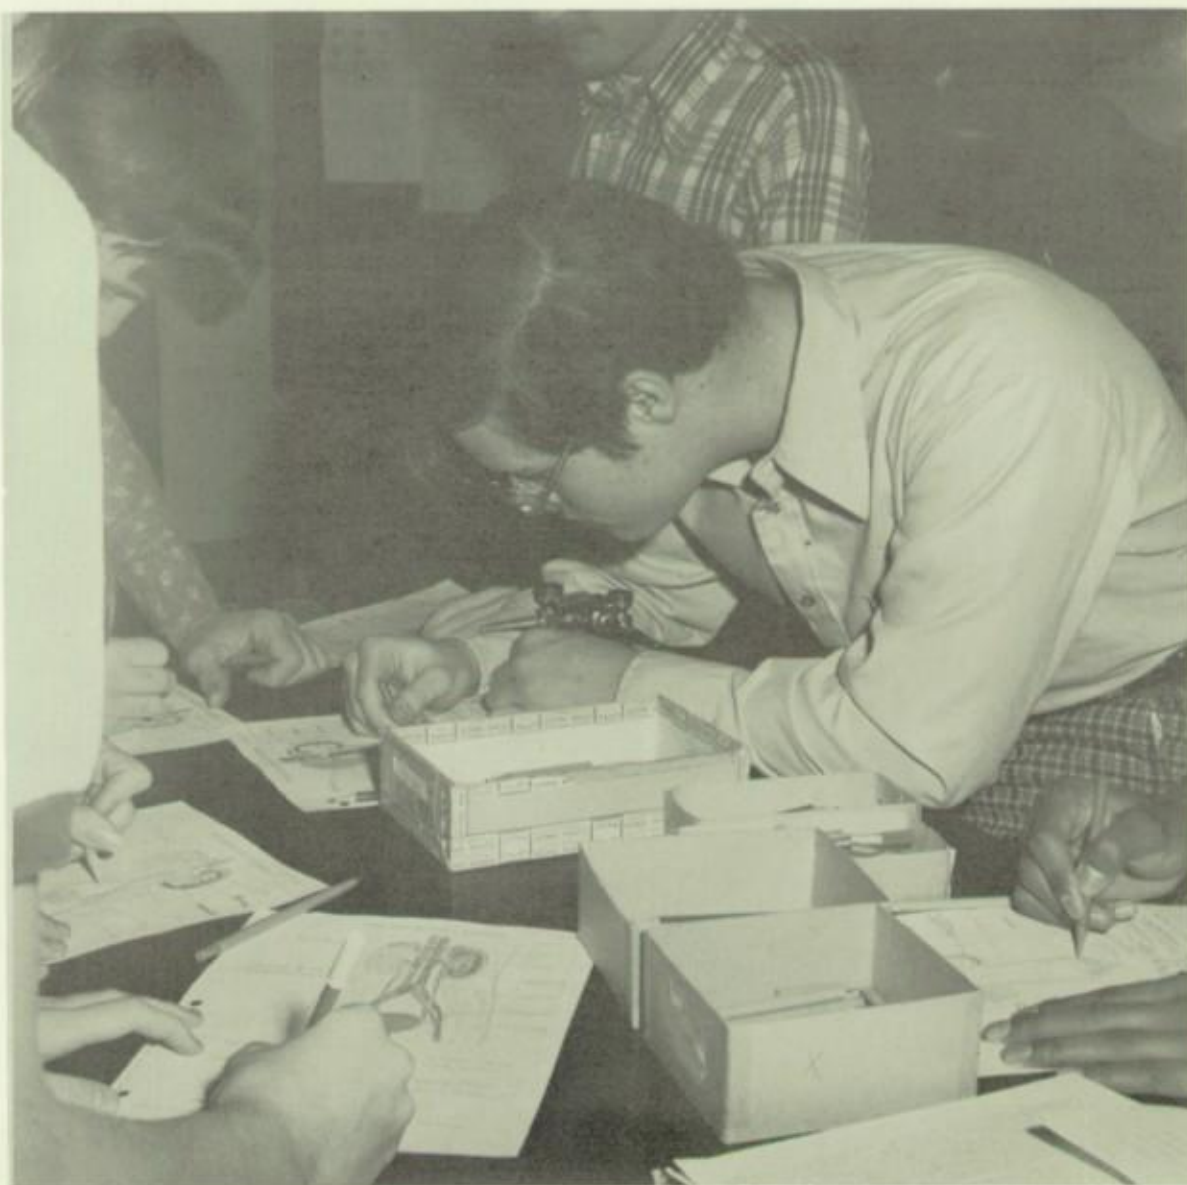

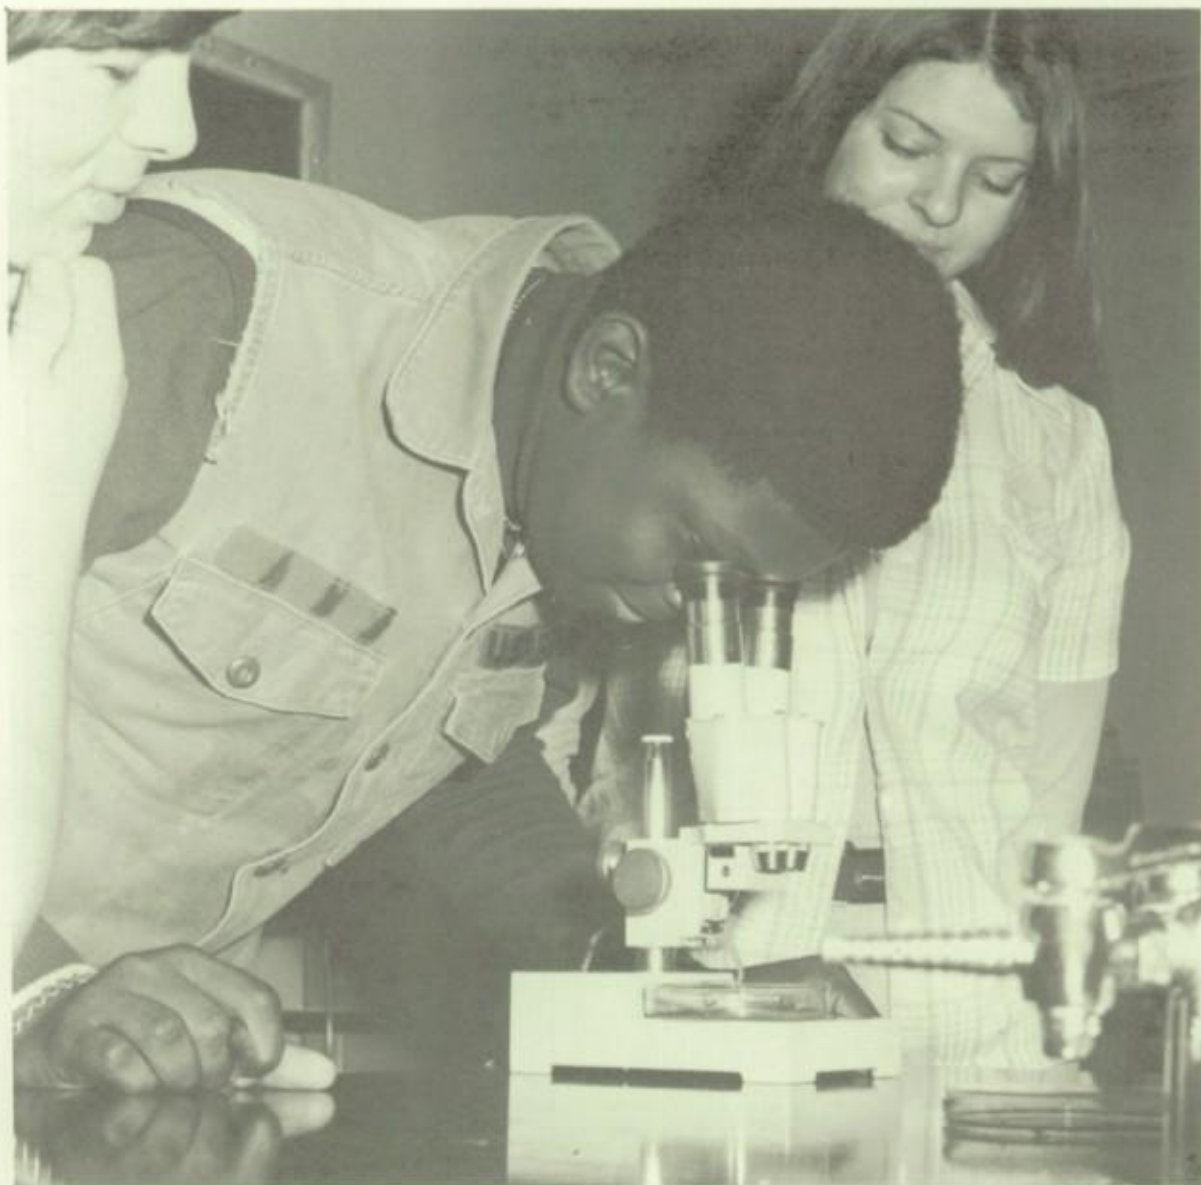

Left: Peppi Faulk has historic cases running through her head while Rhonda Bradley (above) ponders over the meaning of it all.

STUDENT RESEARCH ENCOURAGED

Independent study and research programs were made available to science students during the year. Several students became interested in SPUR (Student Participants in University Research) at IUPUI.

The advanced chemistry students studied forensic science, chemistry and crime detection. Their investigation included fingerprinting; analysis of soil, paint and hair; and detection of blood, lead and arsenic.

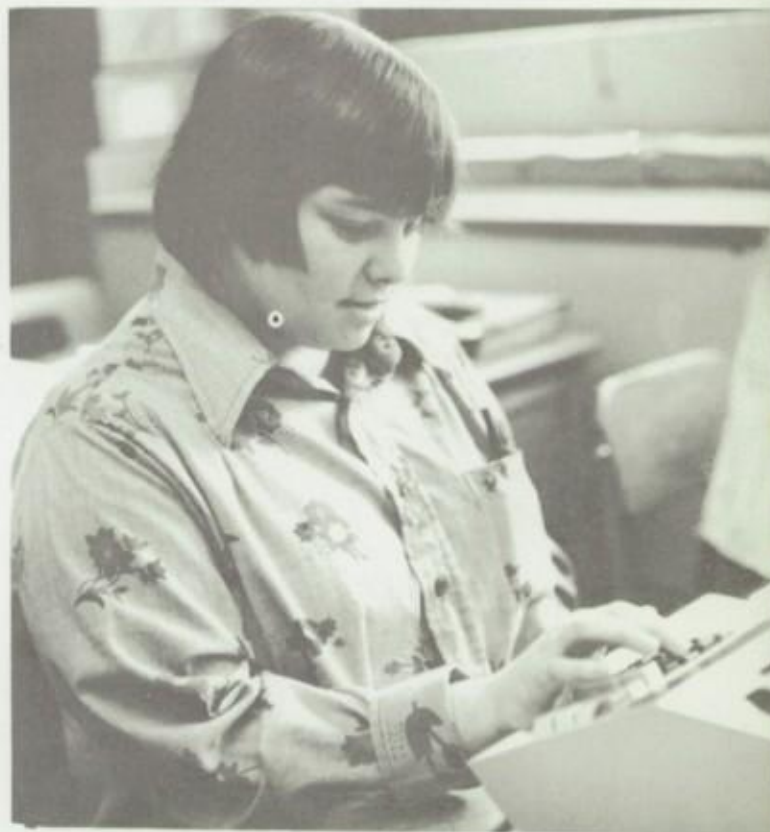

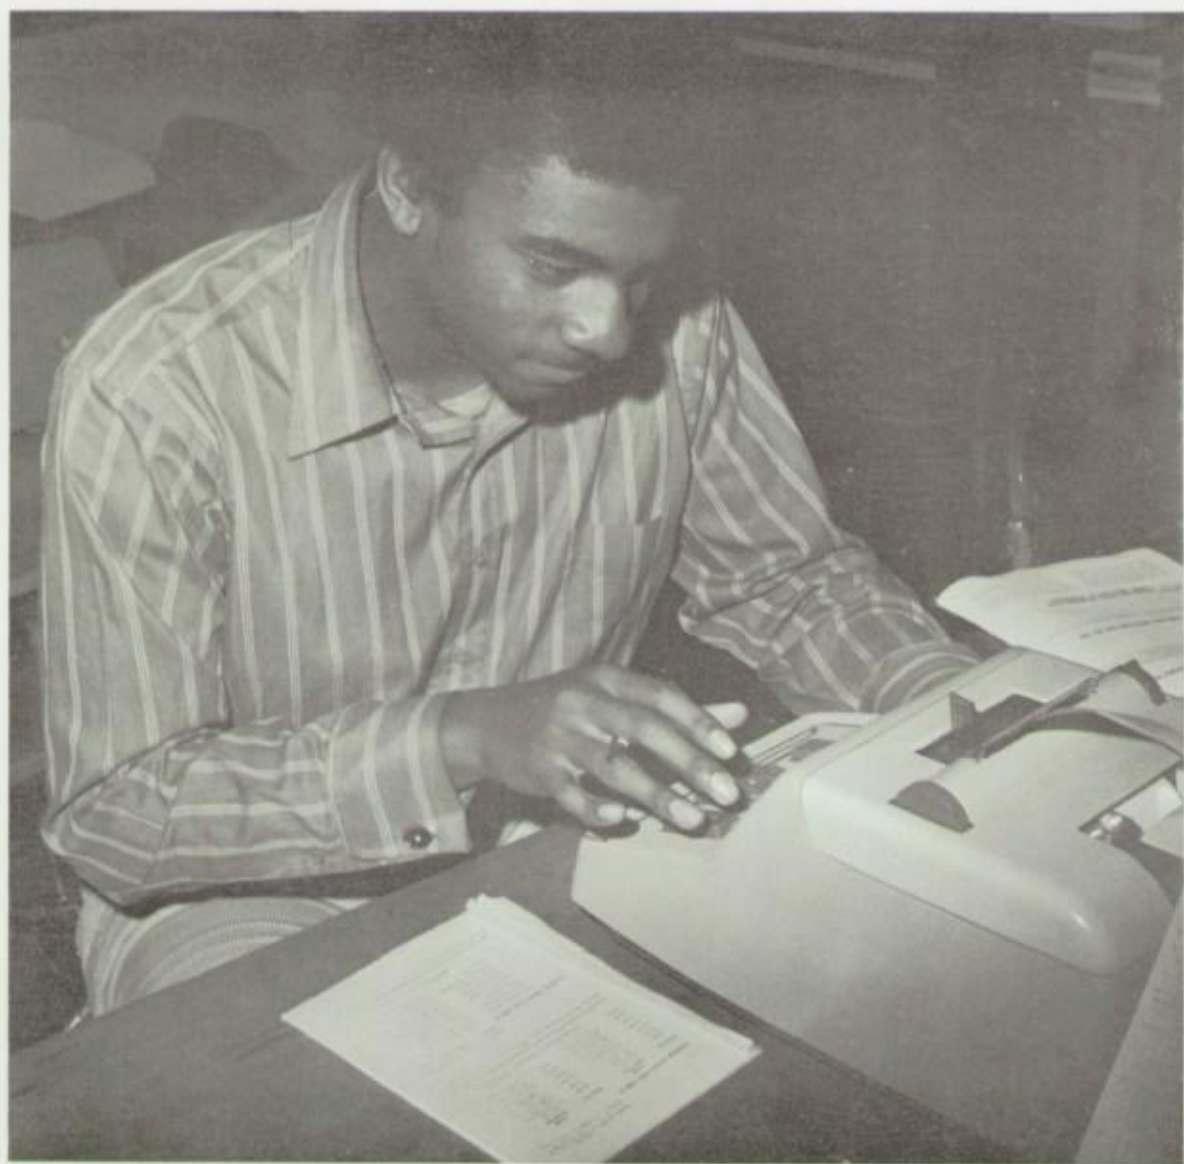

SKILLED HAVE EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Civil Service Testing and Certification has become an annual part of the business department program. Mr. Brown, Placement Director, initiated the program. The test is administered at GWHS for students with business skills and has led to varying kinds of employment for the students.

Several students gained practical experience during the North Central Evaluation by typing and taking shorthand for the visiting Team. Those involved were: Debbie Gaddie, Sharon Byrd, Kimmy Benge, Trudy Rooks, Norita Milum, Sandy Uhls, and Brenda Hatfield.

CREATIVITY EXPRESSED THROUGH ART

Having a creative mind and steady hand is what Art is all about. Art students work on many types of projects throughout the year. Some projects include pottery demonstrated by Marshall Wheeler; ideas for mural design, studied by Dale Rogers; and jewelry, viewed by Lynn Stewart.

To involve the students more in the production of the POST, Senior art students were given the opportunity to design a cover for the POST. Anthony Hampton won the cover design to be used and John Miller's design is on all of the divider pages.

WEIGHT - WATCHERS BEWARE!

Whether your taste buds are set for cereal or glamour desserts, foods classes provide interesting and diversified recipes covering American and Foreign Cookery. Advanced foods classes assist with the preparing and serving of special meals.

Students interested in cutting the cost of new articles of clothing become proficient in sewing and tailoring classes as well as in a new course offering entitled Needle Art.

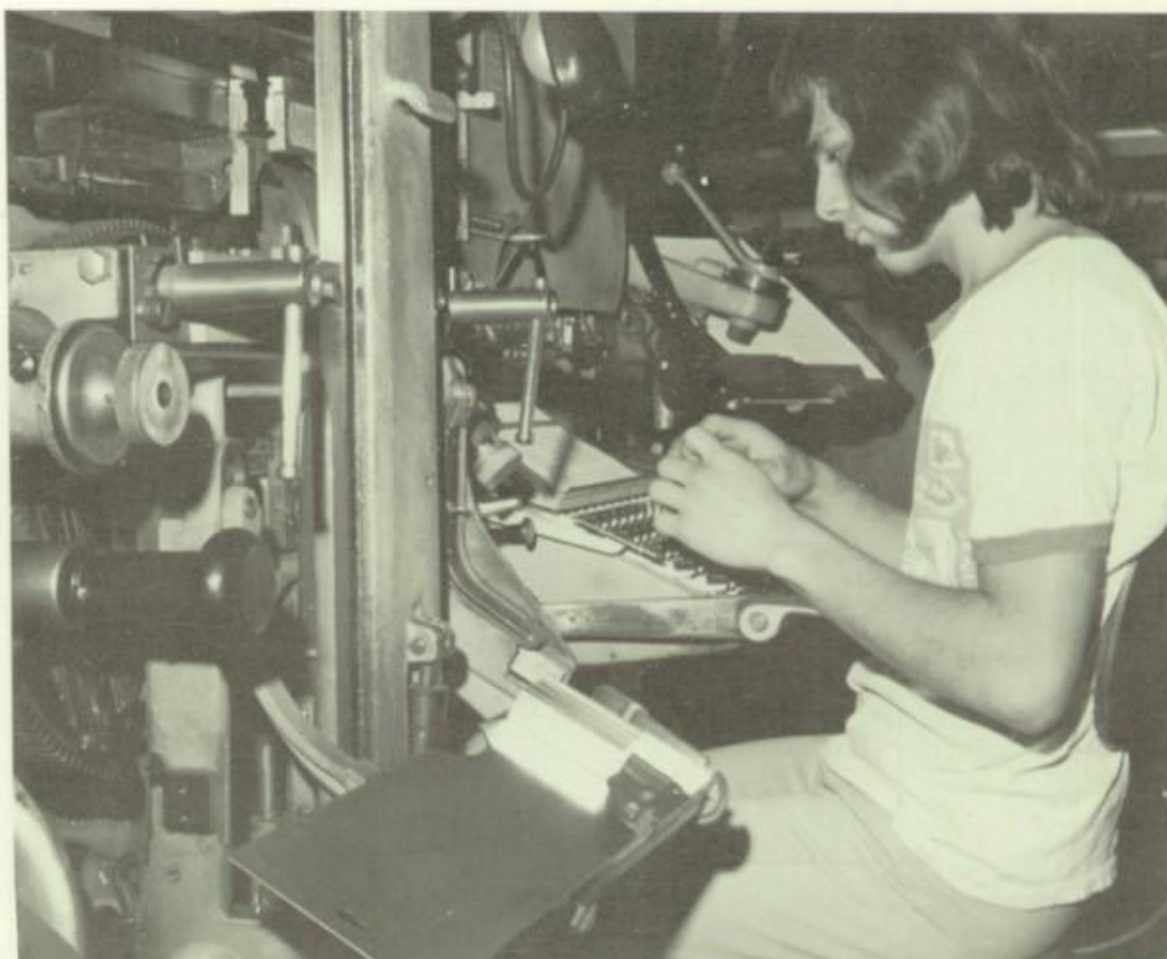

Industrial Arts Strong Vocational Area

Communication, service, and making use of one's skills in everyday living is all part of the training received by students enrolled in the Industrial Arts Department.

In the communications area, one may learn about setting type by hand or Linotype, developing and stripping negatives for offset. Those in Advanced Offset learn to operate the big Heidelberg Press. Students in this area play a productive part in the SURVEYOR POST, and all other printed forms, programs, and Announcements.

Automotive, woodworking and electrical skills all fall under the area of training to enter the customer service field as well as being able to use them for one's own personal everyday living.

The Industrial Arts Department enables students to "get it together" for job opportunities in their future.

Busy at work operating the linotype machine is Jesse Hull.

Darwin Shea demonstrates automotive skills.

Jeff Wilmington puts the finishing touches on a screwdriver in machine shop.

Seniors see a triumphant year

"The Popcorn Machine" is really mean; and Vote for "Smiling Faces" were the signs that appeared during senior class elections. Though all of the nominees were unable to win, the campaign was the best part of running.

The Senior - Faculty basketball game was the most enjoyable project of the year. In addition to the regular game, there was an exhibition game between the senior girls and women faculty members.

The capstone of the year ended with graduation being held at Butler University, June 4, 1975.

SPIRIT IS

A GWHS Junior!! As a class the Juniors walked away with the spirit stick again and again with their enthusiasm.

This enthusiasm carried over to the money making projects sponsored by the Juniors. Selling mums, carnations, and candy, all added up to the Junior-Senior Prom.

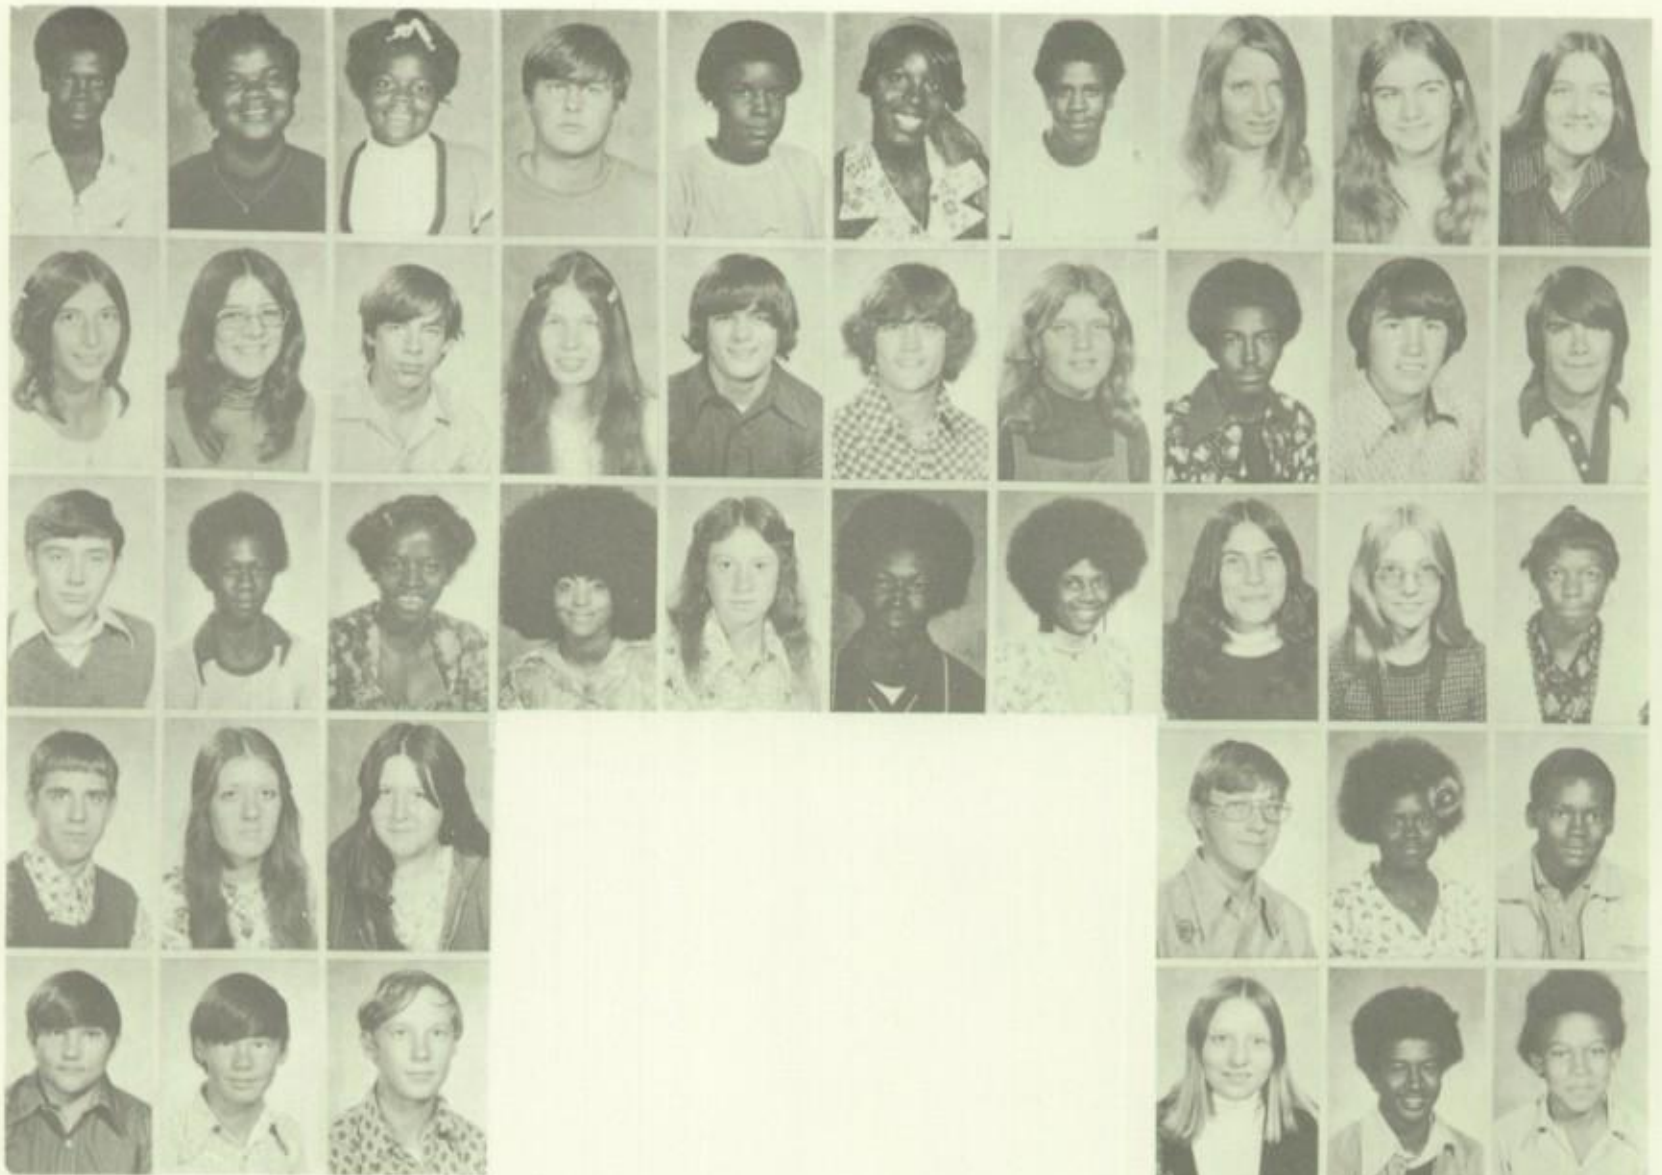

Kimmy Benge, Donna Brissey, and Kathie Gaddie were chosen as Junior members of the Prom Queens Court held at the Columbia Club on May 31, 1975.

The class of '76 showed much spirit, togetherness, and enthusiasm during the year with good leadership from their officers and their sponsor, Mrs. Deborah Snyder.

TWO STEPS TO GO

The Sophomores returned in the Fall more self confident, ready to explore career opportunities and to begin finding their place as a varsity member of GWHS.

Only a sophomore knows the feeling that comes in June with the realization that he is half way toward his goal to being a Senior and graduating.

SPIRITED . . .
INVOLVED . . .
summarizes the class of '78

Although most of the freshmen had never heard of a homecoming, or a spirit week, they soon became just as involved in school spirit as the upperclassmen. During spirit week the freshmen decorated the lower halls, and demonstrated their togetherness as the class of '78, by wearing football badges. Most of the art work was designed by Charles Wallace with Kerri Benge as chairman of decorations.

Four years of pushing pencils, tons of homework, yelling at games until you were hoarse and "another job well done."

When we were freshmen, four years seemed as if it would last an eternity. We knew, then, what it was like to be looked down upon by upperclassmen. Frequently, we could be seen walking around with our heads to the sky, in search of room numbers. At one time or another, some of us remember the innumerable trips to the dean's office. It was all a part of growing up and we did it together.

Looking back at our four years together, I realize that four years wasn't such a long time. For some of us, this has been, and will be, the best part of our lives. Each of us has found some pleasure in just being here.

We've seen Washington at its best and at its worst. We've witnessed what thousands of other Washington alums have never seen: a state football championship and sectional and regional basketball titles, all in our senior year. Such accomplishments require the "togetherness" of the student body as well as the teams.

We knew what it was to have fun, to be disappointed, to work hard, to meet new faces, and most of all to be young. There will never be another class such as our class.

This yearbook can by no means capture all the special moments each of us cares to remember; but, I hope that as time goes on and we go our separate ways, we will remember in the year 1974—1975 we were "together," and "together, we were one."

When memories of good times seem dim and long ago, may this 1975 POST help revive and relive
the beautiful year, 1974 -
75, at "The home of Champions."
